

Substance Abuse Regional Prevention System

The Nebraska Regional Prevention Systems help direct any interested person to the best alcohol and other drug prevention services in their area. They coordinate with all agencies involved in prevention and work to ensure comprehensive programming without duplication of effort.

Staff are able to provide direct assistance to schools and communities in selecting and designing school curriculum, forming drug-free youth groups, organizing community groups in addressing alcohol and other drug problems within a community, training parents in effective prevention, and providing public education materials on alcohol and other drugs.
